Americans for Limited Government focused on cleaning up the federal workforce for you this summer!

Because of you, ALG Foundation revealed to Congress how outdated policies from the Obama Administration is actually underfunding Labor Department union oversight and accountability.

- Congress has continued to dramatically underfund the one part of the Labor Department that oversees union corruption.
- Because of you, ALGF was able to research and reveal that under the Obama Administration Labor Department, criminal investigations of labor union corruption dropped by 40 percent.
- The same report showed that indictments of high-level labor union officials fell by 29 percent, resulting in corrupt labor unions running amuck. By alerting Congress to this epidemic, we are taking the first steps in resolving this issue.

- The MERIT Act, which allows Department Secretaries across the government to “clean house” by firing poor performing employees, is picking up speed as the bill passed through the House Oversight and Government Reform Committee! ALG predicts the bill will pass the House in mid to late September.
- On the other side of Congress, support for the Senate version of the MERIT Act is growing with the latest addition of Senator Tom Cotton as a co-sponsor.
- Together, we plan to mount a huge Labor Day push to change the narrative surrounding Republicans on the holiday. We aim to show the true value of having hard-working individuals serving in our federal government.
